LOT WHERE BODY WAS FOUND USED TO HIDE CRIMES OF DOCTORS?

Police Have a New Theory in Bonfire Mystery, but Search for Missing Williamsburg Church Member Is Not Dropped.

The startling theory was put forth to-day that the Whale Creek dump ground, in Williamsburg, where the body of a young woman with the throat cut was found on Wednesday morning, has been regularly used by malpractitioners and unauthorized undertakers as a sort of outdoor crematory.

This suggestion comes from men on the staff of Inspector Hussey, who has been working in the case along lines different from those followed by the regular precinct detectives under Acting Captain Madigan of the Greenpoint station.

"Two months ago I read an article in which this man Cooper said his medicine would regulate the stomach in six weeks, and I decided to try it. Against the advice of several friends I began taking Cooper's New Discovery nine weeks ago. It has given me a new lease on life. The disorders of the stomach left me in about a month, and just as physicians told me, it proved to be the cause of my nervous trouble. The organs of my body are now performing their functions naturally and my nervous trouble has disappeared.
